Can You Imagine Life Without Your Precious UK Driving Licence?

If you were banned from driving for just 6 months, can you see yourself walking or cycling everywhere or relying on buses and taxis to get to work, collect the children from school or get the weekly shopping?

Most people don't realise how much they take their driving licence for granted, until they're disqualified!

Dear Motorist,

Don't let it happen to you. Find out how you can best protect your driving licence now!

We're all guilty of exceeding the speed limits on UK roads at sometime, whether intentional or not. And it's usually because you're late for work or late for an appointment or the kids are late for school. It could even be because you're rushing home to watch your favourite TV programme.

Professional drivers do it all the time. Taxi drivers, delivery drivers, salesmen and couriers do it frequently because time is money. For whatever reason you break the speed limits, your chances of receiving a ticket, followed by a fine and penalty points, is steadily increasing.

With more than 5,400 camera sites in the UK and just under 3,500 mobile speed units, you're likely to get caught sooner than you think, and possibly more than once.

Currently, almost a million motorists are on the brink of facing a driving ban due to the 12 point totting up system. Are you one of them? Or perhaps you're one of the 2 million motorists who got caught last year, which incidentally raked in around £120 million in fines.

To avoid a fine, penalty points or even a ban, it's obviously better to not get caught at all. But if you already have, you need to know what action to take to ensure you never get another speeding ticket ever again.

In The Know About Protecting Your Driving Licence is all you need to know about avoiding a speeding ticket, a fine and penalty points and the information it contains will definitely help keep your licence clean.

Don't Let This Happen to YOU

If you haven't received a speeding ticket yet, here's the process:

A mobile or static speed camera will capture your vehicle's registration. Within 14 days of the offence you can expect to receive a Notice of Intended Prosecution. In many cases you may be offered a Fixed Penalty Notice, which will cost you £60 and must be paid within 28 days. You'll also receive 3 penalty points on your licence.

Penalty points will remain on your licence for a period of 3 years. However, you'll have to wait a further year before you can have them removed. That's 4 years in total!

Should your speeding offence be above certain limits, you will receive a summons and will have to attend court, in which case you will almost certainly be prosecuted. You'll be fined, you'll have to pay court costs, your licence will be endorsed and you may even be disqualified.

If you receive 12 penalty points on your licence, you will automatically be disqualified.

A new driver who receives 6 or more penalty points within their first 2 years of driving can expect to be disqualified and will have to retake the whole test again before being allowed to drive.

Is it ever worth it?

Limit	Fixed Penalty	Summons	Disqualification
20 mph	25 mph	35 mph	56 mph
30 mph	35 mph	50 mph	66 mph
40 mph	46 mph	66 mph	76 mph
50 mph	57 mph	76 mph	86 mph
60 mph	68 mph	86 mph	96 mph
70 mph	79 mph	96 mph	106 mph
